[Justice H. B. Caton presiding]

The following cases were disposed of this morning:

Two men, charged with obstructing a street corner, were dismissed.

S. E. Simpson, charged with defacing a car of the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Railway Company, had his case continued.

A young man, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, was dismissed.

Robert Hicks, colored, charged with assaulting Emma Williams, also colored, was fined $5.

Two young men, charged with running motorcycles at an unlawful speed, were dismissed; it being shown that they were complying with law.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

The newly elected officers of Alexandria Lodge, No. 758, of Elks, were installed at the meeting last night by Past Exalted Ruler Jacob Brill. There was a large attendance and a social session was held at the close of the meeting at which an interesting programme of exercises was rendered and refreshments served. Following are the officers: Howard W. Smith, exalted ruler; Harry B. Quinn, esteemed lecturing knight; S. S. Barnett, esteemed loyal knight; James W. Biles, esteemed lecturing knight; Thomas D. Downey, tiller; Walter M. Donnelly, secretary; D. E. Robey, treasurer; Thomas Chaucer, trustee. Several appointive officers will be announced at the next meeting by the new exalted ruler.

OPERA HOUSE.

"Excellent" was the unanimous verdict of those who attended the opening of the Opera House last night. Not only was the performance given one of exceptional merit, but the brilliantly lighted auditorium, the handsome new scenery and the many other improvements noticeable, amply sustained the promise of the new owners to give Alexandria an up-to-date playhouse, with a vaudeville performance of quality. The strict order maintained was noticeable, as cable was many other details which have been sadly needed. Two complete performances will be given nightly, beginning at 7:30 and 9 a. m., consisting of two vaudeville acts and new moving pictures.

THE MISSION AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH.

Last night St. Mary's Church was crowded with an attentive audience. Various interesting questions taken from the question box placed in the church vestibule were clearly answered by the Rev. Thomas Waters.

The mission sermon was preached by Rev. Father Doyle, C. S. P., the subject being the nature of mortal sin. The large congregation was suitably moved by the impassioned and eloquent orator who was listened to with rapt attention.

Father Hanley, C. S. P., will preach tonight and the services will continue as already published. Great numbers are present at the morning services at 8:30, 9:30 and eight o'clock. All are cordially invited.

A NOCTURNAL ROW.

At 1:45 o'clock this morning four negroes (two men and two women) all apparently drunk, appeared at the southeast corner of Wolfe and Pitt streets and engaged in a general row. Officers B. H. and Simpson suddenly appeared on the scene when one of the party (a man) ran. The officers took the others in custody. They gave their names as Louis Stuart, Annie Alexander and Mamie Lawrence. They were brought before the Police Court this morning when the evidence showed that the man who escaped struck the Alexander woman. Justice Caton fined the prisoners $5 each.

NARROW ESCAPE.

During the prevalence of the fog at an early hour this morning the gasoline boat Edward S. Gamble, carrying Alexandrians to the steel plant and the Washington navy yard, had a narrow escape from a serious accident by getting too near the steamer Wakefield, the latter being on her way to this port. The Gamble struck the Wakefield, a glancing blow which resulted in no material damage to either boat. The accident occurred a short distance north of Alexandria.

STEAMER SOLD.

The steamer Norfolk, of the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company, has been sold to New York parties. The Norfolk was the second steamer built by the company, and was put on the route with the steamer Washington in 1891. The two steamers ran on the Norfolk route until about a year ago when the Southland and the Newport News were placed permanently upon the line.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

The April term of the Corporation Court, which opens on Monday, is the term at which liquor licenses are granted. Owing to the increase in the state liquor license tax, it is understood that several of the liquor men in this city will not apply for a renewal of their licenses this year.

MASC BALL.

The Easter Lilly Club have made all arrangements for their mask ball and dance to be given at McBurney's Hall tonight at 8:30 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded to the best masked persons. The music will be rendered by Prof. Padgett's full orchestra.

You! Want to be properly dressed for Easter if you haven't a pair of the New Nite Styles of Fine Stylish Foot Coverings? 422 King street, J. A. Marshall & Co.

ANOTHER COLLISION.

A dispatch from Newport News says that while inward bound from Washington the Norfolk and Washington steamer Newport News rammed the Merchants and Miners' steamer Indian, from Baltimore to Newport News and Boston, in Hampton Roads yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. For a short time there was almost a panic among the passengers of both steamers, but order was soon restored. No one was injured. The Newport News has her bow twisted and several plates damaged, while the Indian had several plates on her hull above the water line stove in, and she proceeded to Newport News for repairs.

When the accident occurred the Indian was at anchor near the Atlantic battleship fleet, several hundreds yards west of Old Point. The Newport News had just left Old Point for Norfolk and was proceeding at a slow rate of speed. A thick haze prevailed and the collision is attributed to this cause, but passengers aboard the Indian declare they saw the Newport News when she was 100 yards away and say there was no excuse for the collision.

Immediately after the ships came together nearly a half hundred launches put out from the battleships and were on the scene of the accident in a few minutes. The sailors on the warships rolled over the sides of the fighters, half-dressed, some of them having only trousers on. All of the battleships had launches overboard and they were gotten under way within less than a minute after the crash occurred. The Newport News left on her regular trip to Washington last night and will return to Newport News for repairs.

A passenger on the Newport News gives the following version of the accident: "We had just left Old Point Comfort about 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning and were proceeding at about quarter speed through a fog that seemed to lift at intervals and then fall suddenly ahead. I was on the forward deck with a member of our company when the latter suddenly saw the form of a great ship ahead. The ship seemed to be almost directly across our bow and for a minute it looked as though we would cut through her. The captain of our steamer, however, acted quickly and, as it was, the Newport News struck the Indian with less force than at first appeared inevitable. A hole large enough for two men to pass was cut into the larger ship. We could all see it. There was Newport News backed off. There was great excitement on the Newport News and many people were thrown down. One of those thrown from their berths was Harry Yokes, but he was not hurt at all. One lady had her wrist sprained in the collision. The ship was badly damaged. The Lord Roberts, it was claimed, was anchored in the path of navigation and the collision resulted from a heavy fog that prevailed. Captain Phillips, of the Newport News, also alleges that the Indian was anchored in the path of navigation."

Only a few weeks ago the Newport News collided with the British steamer Lord Roberts, off Wolf Trap Light, and was badly damaged. The Lord Roberts, it was claimed, was anchored in the path of navigation and the collision resulted from a heavy fog that prevailed. Captain Phillips, of the Newport News, also alleges that the Indian was anchored in the path of navigation."

The Newport News was due at this port at 6:30 this morning, but she did not arrive until 9:45. Her stem is slightly twisted and some of her plates on the bow bent. She is not seriously damaged.

Captain Phillips said that after leaving Old Point the Newport News picked her way through the battleships anchored in Hampton Roads. The fog having thickened, the Newport News was being run at reduced speed with a sharp lookout when the steamer Indian, lying transverse the channel and about to be anchored, suddenly appeared about fifty yards ahead. Captain Phillips signaled for full speed astern and attempted to change his course in order to avoid a collision. His efforts were fruitless and the Newport News struck the Indian near the after gangway. Captain Phillips says the Indian is not seriously damaged.

CONTRACTORS AND CARPENTERS.

There is virtually nothing new to note in the conditions now existing between the contractors and the journeymen carpenters of this city. Men are still at work under former contract wages, but they say when present jobs shall have been completed the employers will grant the increased pay which has been requested. Contractors, on the other hand, are loath to admit that any increase in wages will be granted and urge certain reasons why such a course is improbable under present conditions, especially during the scarcity of building operations in Alexandria. But few carpenters are employed at present.

There was a meeting of the Alexandria Trades Council last night, but those who attended say the issue between the contractors and carpenters was not mentioned.

Several journeymen have gone to work on their own accord. They say they can get all the job work they desire.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS.

A largely attended meeting of R. E. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, was held at their building last night, Commander Smoot presiding.

The executive committee made a full report of their work for the year. The adjutant's and treasurer's reports were also read.

The committee appointed at a previous meeting to prepare resolutions on the death of their late comrade, Kosciu ko Kemper, reported, and the resolutions were ordered to be spread on the minutes of the camp, and a copy sent to the family of the deceased.

The adjutant was directed to thank Dr. E. J. Lee, of Philadelphia, for two volumes of the "Southern Historical Papers," the "Life of Davis and Jackson," "The Call of the South," and a memorial volume.

Comrade Zimmerman read a statement in reference to the record on the tablet to the Confederate dead in Christ Church yard. In the cases of James Augustine and James Cox, that these two Confederate soldiers were caught at the house of a Mr. Reid, near Burke's station, on the night of February 17, 1865, and murdered by a detachment of United States cavalry. Mr. Zimmerman had obtained a furlough and with a member of Company D. (Fairfax Rifles), a Mr. John Sutherland, was at the house of Mr. Isaac Hall, near the above station, but staying in the pines most of the time to escape capture. Late on the night of February 17 a lady came out and told them of the killing of the men by a detachment of soldiers. Near 12 o'clock Mr. Landon Desvers, an old man and neighbor of Mr. Hall, came over almost breathless and told them of the shooting and the pressing of John Barker's wagon to carry the bodies to town as they were about to leave. Finding one of the soldiers not dead, they shot him through the head; they also told the Reids if they had time they would go for the other two, who they knew were in the neighborhood, meaning Sutherland and Zimmerman.

The annual report of the condition of the Soldiers' Home, at Richmond, was read by the commander, it being a full and comprehensive report of that institution since its beginning.

The commander made his annual report of the working of the camp for the past year, showing it to be in a good and healthy condition.

The annual election of officers was held with the following result: Commander, W. A. Smoot; first lieutenant, James W. Hammond; second lieutenant, commander, Jesse Murray; third lieutenant, commander, John Hoof; adjutant, Chas. S. Taylor; quartermaster, B. M. Lathan; financial secretary and treasurer, E. O. Graham; officer of the day, G. W. Ramsey; chaplain, J. P. Woodley; vidette, Jan. R. Jasper; executive committee, Edgar Ward, G. Wm. Ramsey and F. J. Davidson.

The commander was empowered to procure an orator for Memorial Day, May 24, and the adjutant entrusted with the arrangements for the choir on that occasion.

Next Monday's inspection will be a very interesting occasion.
